18. TIMELINESS OF MOTION: If your judgment of conviction became final over one year ago, you must explain why the one-year statute of limitations as contained in 28 U.S.C. § 2255 does not bar your motion.*

Upon information and belief, this motion as filed is timely however such shall require detailed amending and memorandum in support once the District Court makes a determination with regards to the attached motion for appointment of counsel due to the sensitive nature and the classified material that intertwines with the requested work product that is requisite in order to fully develop this claim.

* The Antiterrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act of 1996 ("AEDPA") as contained in 28 U.S.C. § 2255, paragraph 6, provides in part that:

A one-year period of limitation shall apply to a motion under this section. The limitation period shall run from the latest of —

- (1) the date on which the judgment of conviction became final;
- (2) the date on which the impediment to making a motion created by governmental action in violation of the Constitution or laws of the United States is removed, if the movant was prevented from making such a motion by such governmental action;
- (3) the date on which the right asserted was initially recognized by the Supreme Court, if that right has been newly recognized by the Supreme Court and made retroactively applicable to cases on collateral review; or
- (4) the date on which the facts supporting the claim or claims presented could have been discovered through the exercise of due diligence.

Therefore, movant asks that the Court grant the following relief:

Petitioner request that this court appoint counsel in this matter in order to review the classified material with Petitioner and determine the extent of any constitutional violations that may exist. {Petitioner request that counsel assist in identification thereof any errors and development of any claims or conversely that said material be provided to or any other relief to which movant may be entitled.
